TERRIBLE FATE OF THE LUSITANIA

Appalling Loss of Life Follows Torpedoing of Giant Cunarder

1,500 PEOPLE DROWNED

Steamer Attacked Without Warning and Sinks in 200 Feet of Water in About Fifteen Minutes.

Yesterday's early dispatches stated that no lives had been lost by the sinking of the Cunard steamer Lusitania by a German submarine. Later advices, however, dissipated all hopes that torpedoing of the steamer had been accomplished without fatalities, and now it is feared that the loss of life will equal that of the Titanic disaster three years ago last month.

It is believed that approximately fifteen hundred persons have perished.

Queenstown, May 8—The Cunard liner Lusitania, which left New York for Liverpool last Saturday with a passenger list of 1251 and 816 men in her crew, was torpedoed twice by a German submarine, eight miles off Kinsale, at 2:12 p. m., yesterday and 21 minutes later had disappeared from sight. Of those on board 188 were Americans.

Survivors, many of them so critically injured that some have died and others will die, have been brought to Kinsale, Clonakilty, and this port at intervals ever since the disaster, but the total loss of life can only be estimated tonight. A steward in the first boat which landed here said that he feared that at lenst 900 persons had perished. Other estimates increased this number to as high as 1500.

This steward came on the Storm Cock, which brought about 150 survivors, principally passengers, among whom were many women, and several of the crew.

Describing the experience of the Lusitania the steward said:

"The passengers were at lunch when a submarine came up and fired two torpedoes, which struck the Lusitania on the starboard side, one forward and the other in the engine room. They caused terrific explosion Captain Turner immediately ordered the boats out. The ship began to list oadly immediately.

"Ten boats were put into the water, and between 400 and 500 passengers entered them. The boat in which I was, approached the land with three other boats and we were picked up shortly after 4 o'clock by the Storm Cock. I fear that few of the officers were saved. They acted bravely.

"There was only 15 minutes from the time the ship was struck until she foundered, going down bow foremost. It was a dreadful sight."

The Lusitania was seen from the signal station at Kinsale to be in difficulties at 2:12. Her lifeboats were over her side and it could be seen that they were being filled with passengers as rapidly as possible. A wireless call for assistance was received here at 2:15, and Admiral Coke immediately dispatched all available tugs and steam trawlers to the scene at least two hours' steaming away The weather was fine, and, besides her own boats the vessel had the assistance of other ships in the vicinity.

The first persons to reach land from the Lusitania were several boatloads of survivors who were towed into Kinsale by a Greek steamer. Soon afterward a motorboat towing two boats containing 50 passengers and two tugs with passengers passed Kinsale, and, like a majority of the rescue boats proceeded to Queenstown. Several hundred passengers were landed at Clonakilty. There were some dead and many injured among those brought ashore with the survivor and the wounded brought brought here were taken to the naval and military hospitals.

So great was the demand for rescue workers that no time was spent in ascertaining the names of those who still lived, and no effort was made to identify the dead. An estimate sent to Admiralty in London placed the number of survivors between 500 and 600.

Queenstown, May 8—An official statement from the admiralty here early today said that all the rescue boats except the Heron had returned, landing 658 living and 45 dead from the sunken Lusitania at Kinsale. Fishing boats may have save da few more, it was stated.

Later the Heron and two trawlers signaled, saying they are bringing in 100 more bodies.

The total number of persons aboard the Lusitania was officially announced as 2,160.

It is reported that a naval patrol has picked up 52 additional survivors.

Best information available here placed the number of perons who died while being brought ashore at 100.

Many American passengers aboard the Lusitania are among the known dead or missing, according to reports received here today.

Captain Turner is about the only officer of the vessel reported saved and he is said to have been taken from the water three hours after the Lusitania foundered. Of the total number on board, 188 were Americans. The majority of these are believed to have perished.

London, May 8—The admiralty at 1:50 this afternoon issued an official denial that the Lusitania was armed.

Copenhagen, May 8—The Berlin newspapers today proclaim in headlines of colossal type the torpedoing of the Lusitania and declared that Germany has registered a new triumph for her naval policy.

The editorial comment generally declares that England received what she deserved.

LOCAL BREVITIES

TRANSYLVANIA SAILS

Captain of British Steamer Carrying 879 Passengers Defies Torpedoes

New York, May 8.—The British steamer Transylvania, of the Anchor Line, sailed late yesterday for Liverpool, a few hours after news of the Lusitania's sinking had been received. The Transylvania cabins were crowded. There were 879 passengers aboard, and others who wanted to go, could not be accommodated for lack of room.

Capt. John Black, who was recently transferred to the Transylvania from the British auxiliary cruiser Columbia, commanded the ship.

"I have been hunting for a submarine ever since this war began" was his comment on the Lusitania. "I only hope I see one this trip and that she comes close enough for me to ram her."

"Do you expect to fly the American flag when you reach the war zone?" he was asked.

"No sir. I'll take my ship to port with the flag of England flying, or not at all," he replied.

BIG TOWN HALL IS NOW A MORGUE

FUNERALS TOMORROW

Boat Loaded With Women and Children Capsizes After it had Been Launched, and Only a Few Saved.

Queenstown, May 8—The big town hall here has been turned into a temporary morgue. Lines of coffins bearing the bodies of victims of the Lusitania tragedy are being placed in the main room.

It is announced that all will be taken there for identification and that as fast as the names are ascertained they will be made public.

It is now proposed that the funeral of the victims be held on Sunday.

That at least one of the Lusitania's boats loaded with women and children capsized after it had been launched, was stated here today by Bertrand Jenkins, of New York. He said that he had helped two women into the boat, one of them being Miss Bramwell, an opera singer of New York. The boat turned over after striking the water and only a few of those on board were rescued by another boat.

Mrs. M. M. Pappadopoulo, of Athens, Greece, faced death in the sea for more than an hour. An expert swimmer, she was totally exhausted when landed here. On the rescue tug she had been given a sailor's sweater and trousers to replace her wet clothing. Her husband whom she tried vainly to save, probably was lost.

"I was ordering coffee in the saloon," she said, "when the ship was almost broken in two by the force of an explosion. I put on a life belt and so did my husband. I tried to help him after we got into the water. He was no swimmer, however, and I fear that he was lost. Only the thought of my babies in Athens bouyed me up until finally I was picked up by a fishing boat."

Mrs. Pappadopoulo will live, the doctors say.

Yesterday afternoon the delegates were taken in autos to Monticello, the home of Thomas Jefferson, and after coming down the mountain the university wrounds were visited.

The night session was given up to reports by State officers and other routine matters.

President Davis stated that more than 100 new members had been secured since the last convention, and that the total membership up to April 10 was the largest in the history of the division, being 3,119.

IMPORTANT DECISION

United States Circuit Court of Appeals Gives Opinion in Far-Reaching Case.

Richmond, May 8—Judge Knapp, in voicing Thursday the opinion of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals in the case of John T. Jones against the American Surety Company, of New York, reversed the decision of the District Court at Richmond and held that the surety company is not liable for the $10,000 injunction bond in question.

The case grew out of two actions at law brought by Jones against Joseph W. Woolfolk, one for $10,000 and the other for $25,000, both based upon alleged violations of certain contracts entered into between these two parties. First entered upon the docket of a State court, the cases were finally removed to the United States District Court, where Woolfolk filed a petition in equlty, alleging defenses that could not be properly presented in a court suit at law and asking that prosecutions of the action be enjoined and the entire controversy be adjudicated in a court of equity. The injunctions were granted on condition that Woolfolk give bond in the sum of $10,000 as surety that he would abide by the damages and costs that might acquire to the plaintiff in case the injunction was dissolved. The American Surety Company was Woolfolk's surety on this bond.

All the issues involved were adjudicated in this equity suit with the result that the $10,000 suit was perpetually enjoined and the injunction against the $25,000 suit dissolved The court upon dissolving the injunction, awarded Jones $7,000 damages, from which decision both Jones and the surety company appealed, the one claiming the whole appealed, the amount named in the bond, the other claiming nonliability to any extent.

In rendering the court's opinion as to the legal status of the bond, Judge Knapp said: "The bond in question is not an appeal bond or a supersedeas bond—its is distinctly an injunction bond which was designed to accomplish the ordinary purpose for which security is required when a preliminary injunction is granted, namely to protect the part enjoined from any loss occasioned by awarding the injunction. It was not intended to secure payment of the sum which might be adjudged due from Woolfolk to Jones, but merely to indemnify the latter against any damage he might sustain if it should turn out that his action at law ought not to have been stayed."

The opinion handed down Thursday by the United States Circuit of Appeals, in session here, relieving the Hartford Fire Insurance Company of liability for a $10,000 policy issued to the Stewart Vehicle Company, of Martinsburg, W. Va., which was burned in September, 1912, is of interest to fire insurance agents throughout the country.

The company disputed its liability to payment of the policy on the ground that the plant was encumbered by a chattel mortgage, a case which is expressly forbidden by a clause in the policy.

The opinion of the Appellate Court reverses District Judge Dayton, who permited the case to go to a jury, with the result that a verdict for the full amount of the policy was returned in favor of the vehicle concern. According to the opinion handed down yesterday, a verdict should have been directed for the insurance company.

The mortgage in question was for $30,000 and was held by the Maryland Surety and Trust Company.

POPULARITY CONTEST.

The popularity contest of the Alexandria firemen to be held in connection with their carnival next week, is now under full sway. The contestants are Misses Hilda Woolf, Marion Wood, Grace Wiley, Katherine Newton, Emerita Warnock, Louise Abbott and Mrs. Edith M. Clarkson. The prize is a diamond ring. Contestants can file their names with A. D. Grimes, 614 King street.

GERMANIC ALLIES MAKE DEMAND

Decisive Developments Are Expected in Rome at Any Time

GREAT EXCITEMENT

Attitude of Germany and Austria May Foreshadow Declaration of War Upon Emmanuel.

Informaton obtained through diplomatic sources is to the effect that the Austrian and German Ambassadors at Rome have peremptorily demanded that Italy give her decision. Prince Buelow, the German Ambassador, has recommended that the Germans and Austrians leave Italy King Victor and Premer Sonnino were conferring last night and it is possible that Italy's reply to the Austro-German demand will be given today.

Rome, May 8—A cabinet council was held yesterday lasting for two hours. The results of its deliberations were not anounced. Immediately after the council was finished Premier Salandra and Baro Sonnino, the foreign minister, conferred with King Victor Emmanuel, and the King signed a decree postponing the opening of parliament which had been scheduled for May 12, until May 20.

Prince von Buelow the German ambassador had an audience with the king in the afternoon. The audience lasted an hour. It is not known whether it was in the nature of a farewell audience or not. It is reported that Prince von Buelow delivered to the king an autograph letter from the German emperor Evidently similar letter was delivered to the pope, since Prince von Buelow also went to the Vatican and it is believed was received secretly in audience by Pope Benedict. The Austrian ambassador and the Prussian and Bavarian envoys to the holy see conferred with Cardinal Gasparri, papal secretary of state in connection with their departure from Rome, which is likely to be imminent.

ALMA WEIGHS 700 POUNDS.

You 98 pounders living in daily hope of gaining a pound or two by the use of flesh restorer, refraining from exercise, or other time worn methods, how would you like to weigh 700 pounds? Jolly Alma does, according to the Fairbank's scales, and is just as happy as she is fleshy. No reducers for her.

Jolly Alma will be amongst us Monday when the Johnny J. Jones Shows exhibit at Baggett's lot.

This giant lady is carried as a feature of the Jones World of Living Wonders Show. One of the 50 attractions to be seen at the extensive firemen's celebration. She is nineteen years of age and single. No one with sufficient reach with which to properly embrace her has yet been found, and as the lady stoutly asserts she will have no installment lovers. Her days of single blessedness are likely to be many.

That Lady Alma is the fattest person on earth has not yet been denied, and that she is the handsomest fat girl of them all, is as generally admitted. She is a product of Illinois, and her entire family are inclined towards stoutness, though none of them approach her remarkable weight.

IN MEMORIAM.

In remembrance of ANNIE N. VIOLET, the beloved wife of Chas. A. Violet, who departed this life one year ago tomorrow, May 9th, 1914.

No one knows the loss of her as I do, But I hope some day, when the dear Saviour calls me home I shall meet her face to face.

Beloved in life, and remembered in death.

By Her Husband, Chas. A. Violet.

THE WALLACE PRIZE CONTEST.

Exercises Take Place in Chapel of Episcopal High School Last Night.

The Wallace prize contest, open to members of the Senior Class at the Episcopal Theological Seminary, near this city, took place last night in the Chapel of the Episcopal High School at a quarter before eight o'clock. This prize was forwarded some years ago by Chaplain Wallace, U. S. N., an alumnus of the Seminary for the encouragement of and development in public extemporaneous speaking among the students of his Alma Mater.

Six members of the Senior Class entered the contest as follows: Messrs. Ambler M. Blackford, Randolph F. Blackford, Lloyd R. Craighill, Edward A. De Miller, Menard Doswell, and William C. Marshall.

The subject chosen by the faculty was "The Social Aspects of Christianity." There were three prizes on this occasion, and the following were the sucessful contestants: Lloyd R. Craighill, of the Episcopal diocese of Southern Virginia, William C. Marshall, of the diocese of Virginia, and Edward A. De Miller, of the diocese of Mississippi, awarded in the above order the first, second and third prize of $100, $75 and $50 a piece.

The judges were Judge J. K. M. Norton and Messrs. C. Taylor Burke, John Leadbeater, and G. Washington Lewis, of Alexandria, and Dr. Hewes, of Seminary Hill. Judge Norton, as chairman of the board of judges, announced the awards, and in doing so, said that the judges considered the contest of a high order and reflected great credit on the members of the Senior Class who entered it. In fact the merits of the three successful contestants were so close, that they had some difficulty in distinguishing their rank in the contest.

The thanks of the faculty and studnts were accorded to the judges for their kind interest in the contest and their willingness to give time for attending it and doing such a helpful part. Dean Crawford presided, and there was present a good audience of students and friends of the Seminary.

AFTER SUSPECTS.

The police are rounding up all suspicious characters who are on the streets late at night in an effort to apprehend the pyromaniac who has recently set fire to several houses in the First ward. Early this morning Policeman Roberts found William Williams, a negro, loafing on the river front in the wholesale district, and placed him under arrest. He was sent to jail this morning for 30 days on the charge of vagrancy. Williams was released from jail May 1st. He claimed that he was trying to find a place to sleep.

OLDER SCHOLARS CONFER

Large Gathering Witnesses Exercises in Young People's Building Last Night.

Ten Sunday School of this city were represented last night at a conference of the older scholars of the Alexandria Sunday school Association at the Young People's Building The auditorium was packed, a great many having to stand outside the doors. There were two delegates each from the following schools of the city: Christ, Methodist South, Methodist Protestant, Trinity Methodist, First Baptist, Second Baptist, Grace, St. Paul's, Second Presbyterian, and Chapel of the Good Shepherd. The delegates were divided into sections who spoke on one of four subjects each. The conference was opened by a hymn. "Stand up, Stand up for Jesus," which was followed by prayer by the presiding officer, William Schafer, Jr., and the Lord's Prayer repeated by the assemblage.

The first subject for discussion was "What kind of a Sunday School Teacher would I prefer?" Agnes Plaskett, Milton Penn, and Robert Gulland were the three who brought out points that were effectively summed up at the close by Tupper Barrett. A picture of a teacher was drawn that could indeed be called ideal. This was followed by a hymn, "Work for the Night is Coming," and then came the second subject, "What I would consider a good Sunday School scholar?" Five speakers, Louise Adams, Pearl Newton, Julia Duncan, Inez Pierpoint, and Julian Upton, excellently brought out the attributes that go to make up a good scholar, all of which were forcefully summed up by Ashby Bladen, who also made the summary of the third subject, "Why do older scholars leave Sunday School?" which came after the hymn, "Onward, Christian Soldiers," and on which Thomas Wattles, Herbert Mills, and Sarah Cox, all spoke excellently. The last subject was "Why do some of the older scholars remain?" and this was of as great interest to the audience as the preceding three. Dolly Callahn, Norman Simpson, Carmie Jeffries, and Viola Kerrick, all pointed out in a clear manner why some of the older pupils remained within the sphere of the Sunday school. Frank Johnson drew all the points brought out by these four speaking into one clear concise summary, which covered everything they had said.

After a hymn, "All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name" the benediction was pronounced by Rev. J. W. Duffey.

The chairmen of the Committee on the conference were as follows, program, J. T. Preston, Jr., reception, Arthur Dickert, music, Miss Regina Lucas; ushers, Nevell Roberts. Charles Bender was secretary of the conference.

HELD FOR GRAND JURY.

Dave Smith, Colored, Will be Tried For Cutting Pearl Jackson, Also Colored.

Dave Smith, a negro, was held for the action of the grand jury this morning by Police Justice Caton, charged with cutting Pearl Jackson, a colored woman. The woman was severely slashed on the night of April 28th at her home, 409 Pendleton street. She was cut four times on the breast, one of the cuts, peentrating her lung, four times on the back and about the head. One finger was severed.

Smith stated in court that he had killed a man in Amherst county a year ago, but had been acquitted by the jury. He claims the man was shot while setting fire to his barn.

IMPRESSIVE EXERCISES

The graduation exercises of the Alexandria Hospital were held last evening in the Elks' Auditorium. The nurses in the graduating class were Miss Isabel Washington, Miss Meta Gray Tanner, Miss Mary Monroe, and Mrs. Ada Snead Hoffman.

After the procession of the nurses and the four graduates the blessing was invoked by the Rev. J. W. Duffey, after which the speaker of the evening, Dr. Douglas Freman, of Richmond, made an address. Dr. George T. Klipstein administered the modified Florence Nightingale oath.

The diplomas were presented to the graduating nurses by Dr. Hugh McGuire with sincere and deserved praise for their dignified work and high standing in classes. Dr. McGuire remarked also upon the efficiency of the nurses graduated from the Alexandria Hospital. He closed his address with a beautiful tribute to Miss Simmons who will retire on May 15th. Dr. McGuire spoke of her capability, adding how much beloved she was by all who had come into contact with her.

Miss Simmons replied to this tribute by generously placing the credit for her success upon the hearty cooperation with which she had met from the board of managers, trustees and the ciitzens of the community. Her words of encouragement to the pupil nurses to continue their progress caused them to weep at the thought of her leaving them, which tribute was more even that the spoken one of Dr. McGuire.

Dr. William M. Smith, president of the State Board of Health, presided at the exercises.

The benediction was pronounced by the Rev. Edgar Carpenter.

Masters Albert Smoot and Robert Yates bore the many beautiful floral tributes to the nurses from the door to the stage, where little Misses Margaret Moore and Josephine Gregg received them and banked them in masses of riotous color reaching from one end of the stage to the other, all these flowers expressing Alexandria's appreciation of her nurses.

The exercises were followed by an informal reception at the hospital where the trustees with their wives, the lady board of managers with their husbands, the doctors and their wives, and the ministers of the city and their wives were gathered.

TEN BOYS IN COURT.

Ten white boys, ranging from 10 15 years old, were in Police Court this morning charged with molesting John A. Wilson, a colored man, who lives near Spring Park. The testimony showed that the boys had thrown rotten tomatoes, stones, and sticks at the man and had also called him names on the streets. Four of the boys acknowledged that they had been guilty of some of the acts. Justice Caton said that he would not impose a fine in this case, but warned them that if they repeated the occurence they would be severely punished.

JUDGE [illegible] ED.

Adjourns Co[illegible] Canter Brother[illegible]

Abingdon, Va., May 8.—The throng that packed the courtroom here yesterday at the trial of James Canter on the charge of being an accomplice of his brother Luther in assaulting and murdering Mrs. Mary Wilson were thrown into a fever of excitement when Luther Canter was condemned to die for the crime and refused to tell the story of the assault and murder.

Evidences of threatened trouble developed so speedily that Judge Preston W. Campbell ordered the courtroom cleared, adjourned court and hurried the Canter brothers, under a strong guard of armed men, to the nearest point on the Norfolk and Western Railway. Luther Canter was sent to Roanoke and James to Marion. But for prompt action of the presiding judge serious trouble most likely would have followed.

Luther Canter told how he entered Mrs. Wilson's room at the Wilson home on the Abingdon turnpike and, finding her alone, seiezd her. A struggle ensued, which Canter overcame, bound and assaulted her. He shot her with a shotgun in the room where she fell dead, holding the muzzle close to her prostrate body, and then left the home before nightfall.

He denied that his brother James had anything to do with the crime.

In spite of his story the prosecution seems convinced that the younger brother was with Luther at the time of the murder.

The prosecution has developed a strong chain of evidence around James Canter. It was shown that the brothers met near the Canter home, where they are said to have talked over James' trouble with the husband of Mrs. Wilson and other affairs relating to the Wilsons.

Luther Canter was sentenced by Judge Campbell immediately before the adjournment of court today to be executed on Friday, June 11.

The trial of James Canter was resumed today, and it is believed the case will go to the jury this afternoon.

SHOCK TO NEW YORKERS

Feeling Against Germany Bitter in the Metropolis

New York, May 8.—Nothing since the actual declaration of war on France by Germany has been such a shock to New Yorkers as was the report yesterday of the torpedoing of the Lusitania. The first fear was for the lives of the passengers, many of whom are prominent citizens of this city and state.

Everywhere crowds gathered to discuss the latest news, and more anger was shown than at any time since the war began. Streets fights were frequent. A German or a German sympathizer who ventured to express himself as pleased with Germany's latest exploit met with summary treatment. Bulletin boards in front of two German newspapers on which brief reports of the torpedoing of the Lusitania were posted were torn down and demolished. Boys selling German newspapers in the streets were beaten, and their papers destroyed. All the big hotels in the city made arrangements to receive the latest news of the rescue of the Lusitania's passengers, and these hostelries were crowded until a late hour tonight with anxious friends and resitatives of passengers aboard the ill-fated ship.

A middle-aged man, who gave the name of Henry Schultz, was watching a newspaper's bulletin board yesterday when news of the Lusitania's sinking was posted. He was so elated he threw his hat into the air and shouted a German legend.

Some one caught his hat and began tearing it up. In a minute the half-hundred spectators were crying "Knock hom down" "Kill him" and 'Hang him" A small riot followed, in which half a dozen men grabbed the man.

A blow on the jaw felled him and then onlookers began to kick him. Three policemen interfered. They sent him to the hospital, but he was unwilling. Hatless, he limped away.

MRS. CARMAN DENIES ALL.

Mineola, N. Y., May 8.—Mrs. Florence Conklin Carman testified in her own defense yesterday at her trial on the charge of murder in connection with the fatal shooting of Mrs. Louise D. Bailey in the office of her husband, Dr. Edwin Carman, in Freeport, June 30 last. Her testimony was almost identical with that related by her at the first trial last fall, which resulted in a disagreement.

On direct examination Mrs. Carman denied everything to which Celia Coleman, her former negro maid, had testified. She denied that she had ever used a revolver or other firearms, but admitted that there was a pistol in her room at the time of the shooting. A small automatic pistol was produced in evidence. The bullet that killed Mrs. Bailey was of larger calibre.

The case is expected to go to the jury this afternoon.

TORPEDOING OF THE LUSITANIA

The launching by the Cunard Steamship Company seven or eight years ago of the Lusitania, a passenger steamship which eclipsed in size and luxuriousness the historic Great Eastern of ante bellum days, caused natural pride in the heart of every Briton. When placed in service between New York and Liverpool she proved to be the greyhound of the Atlantic and was greatly patronized. Her commander, Captain Turner, is one of the most experienced navigators in the employ of the company. Following the watchword of the management, "safety first," no mishap occurred to the steamer until yesterday afternoon as she was close to the Irish coast, when torpedoes from German submarines sent the giant craft to the bottom of St. George's channel. It is feared that fifteen hundred persons perished.

The destruction of the Lusitania has sent a thrill of horror throughout the civilized world, while the people of England are exasperated beyond measure and a great impetus has been given to recruiting in consequence. The Cunard Line has been naturally the pride of Great Britain, and an enemy which has the temerity to attack one of those steamers will not be forgiven either in this day or that which is to come. The act makes it war to the knife from now on.

The Cunard Line was established in the beginning of the forties, and only on one other occasion has human life been lost on these steamers until yesterday. Several years ago a huge wave boarded the steamer Lucania and swept several steerage passengers into the sea. The disaster yesterday was through no fault of those having charge of the steamer.

The ticket furnished passengers on a Cunard steamer is as large as a sheet of foolscap paper. The purchaser signs his name, giving his age, occupation and native place. He subscribes to an agreement that he will not hold the company responsible for loss from acts of heaven or the king's enemies. The disaster yesterday was caused by the king's enemies after the steamer had braved the elements and safely passed across the ocean.

Captain Turner after one of his first trips to America in 1907 was being complimented upon his skill in handling the giant ship. He said, "My main thought after having left either end is, Will I get there?" He got nearly there yesterday afternoon, when the noble ship listed heavily, and in fifteen minutes' time the waters of St. George's Channel closed over her with many of her passengers, who were at lunch at the time of the torpedoing of the steamer.

The sinking of the Lusitania, filled as she was with non-combattants, has sent up a cry of horror throughout the world, and many people in the United States take the procedure as a casus belli. There is much intemperate talk indulged in and street fights between Germans and Angle-Saxons in the larger cities are reported. The good book says, "In your patience possess ye your souls." Those at the head of the government of the United States will handle this delicate situation in a proper manner.

During the war between the States Raphael Semmes was commander at times of the Confederate steamers Sumter and Alabama. In his interesting book, "Four Years Afloat," he tells of his many adventures in dodging United States cruisers and capturing and burning ships belonging to the northern section of the country. He was termed the pirate Semmes by his enemies; although there was nothing in his acts to justify this name. In every instance he gave passengers or crews of steam or sailing vessels he intercepted abundance of time to leave their vessels and be placed on his before the torch was applied. On most occasions he saw them safe on other ships before he proceeded to the work of destruction. One Sunday morning he halted the Pacific Mail Steamship Company's steamer Ariel in the Carribean Sea. The Alabama was flying the British flag and the Ariel unsuspectingly drew near. The Confederate flag in almost less time than it takes to tell it took the place of the British colors when a solid shot was sent across the bow of the Ariel. The latter started to run from the scene, but another shot, this time near the smoke stack, caused her huge paddle wheels to stand still. A shriek of terror went up from a number of females who were on deck and there was great consternation among all aboard. Semmes kept by the Ariel all day in hopes some other American vessel would come along so he could transfer the passengers and crew. None coming, he was forced to libel the steamer—that is she was to be delivered to the Confederate government at the end of the war should the south gain her independance.

Another incident where similar procedures were followed, and one in which Alexandrians figured, can be mentioned. While the civil war was in progress the Confederate steamer Florida, Captain Maffitt, captured the New York and Aspinwall mail steamer Electric Spark a short distance north of the Virginia capes. The Electric Spark was in charge of Captain Graham, of this city, and his son, Henry Graham, was aboard. Captain W. C. Geoghegan, who until recently commanded steamers running between Alexandria and Baltimore, was also on the Electric Spark. The captain of the Florida transferred passengers and crew from the mail steamer before destroying her. He later placed them aboard a vessel he encountered which was bound for a northern port, and all reached home in safety.

NEWS OF THE DAY

Two more British steamers have been added to the list of vessels sunk by German submarines, the destruction of both vessels being unattended with loss of life. They are the Candidate and the Centurion.

Four persons are reported killed in Marlboro county, S. C., and the business section of Manning, in the adjoining county, is said to have been severely damaged by a tornado late yesterday.

Former Premier Venizelos, who was forced out of the Greek government because of his insistence that Greece should enter the war on the side of the allies, has been recalled to Athens by King Constantine.

A dispatch was received in Copenhagen yesterday evening from Petrograd reporting that an official announcement had been given there to the effect that a naval battle has been fought in the Baltic near Libau between German and Russian warships.

After killing a woman who was riding with him in an automobile in Baltimore late last night, Dr. C. V. Ruen, about 28 years old, of the Naval Medical School, Washington, took his own life. Dr. Druen had no family, but one brother, Samuel B. Druen, of Baltimore.

Lester Poust, 28 years old, and Charles Holes, 32, are dead, and Cecilia Sowers is believed to be dying as a result of a shooting and suicide at Jersey Shore, Pa., yesterday. The tragedy took place when Poust found Miss Sowers and Holes together. He shot both and then turned the weapon upon himself.

Running in a 220 yard dash at the Middletown High School, Frederick, Md., yesterday afternoon, Leslie Remsberg, aged 18, a pupil of the school, fell to the ground and died almost instantly. Death was due to a ruptured blood vessel. He was the son of George Remsberg, a Middletown Valley farmer.

A unanimous verdict in favor of the defendants in the Campbell will case was returned by the jury in St. Louis Thursday night. The verdict declares that Lois Campbell, now Mrs. Elzey Burkham, to be the daughter of James Campbell, and, therefore, entitled to half of his $16,000,000 estate, willed her by Campbell.

Storms general over large sections of Louisiana, Mississippi, and Alabama late Thursday and early yesterday resulted in 39 deaths, the injury of at least three-score persons and heavy property damage. With one exception all those killed were negroes. High winds did $100,000 damage in Birmingham, Ala., and in country sections of the three states many houses were demolished. Estimates placed the property loss there at $500,000.

A charge of dynamite was exploded on the front porch of the rectory of Our Mother of Consolation Polish Catholic Church at Mount Carmel, Pa., a few nights ago. The porch was blown down and the rectory and the church adjoining were badly wrecked. Doors were blown off the hinges and practically every window in the church, the largest in the town, was shattered. Father Retka, the rector, was asleep in the building, but escaped injury, as did other inmates of the home. For several months Father Retka has been admonishing his parishionrs to be more liberal in donations.

VIRGINIA NEWS

Failing to break away from the laudanum habit, Mrs. Fannie Tucker, aged 38 years, stood yesterday in front of a fast Southern train on a bridge at Lynchburg and was killed. Letters found in her room show the woman's act was premediated. She recently filed a suit for divorce from her husband, whose whereabouts are unknown.

The fire which Thursday night did $100,000 damage at the Holland-Lee storage warehouse in Suffolk broke through the fire walls yesterday morning and destroyed the second section of the large peanut plant. The additional damage is placed at $100,000, making a total loss of $200,000. The fire companies apparently were helpless and Norfolk was called on for help which was given.

Louis McMahon, managing editor of the Richmond News Leader, and William B. Smith, city editor of the Times Dispatch were arrested this week on warrants charging criminal libel, sworn out by James Lafew. The charge sworn out accounts printed in the two newspapers of Lafew's dismissal from a local military company. The newspaper men were released on $50 bond each pending their hearing on Monday.

William Moffatt, a young Winchester importer, was among those who sailed on the Lusitania. He was called to his old home at Manchester, England, to attend the funeral of his father, John Moffat, who died two weeks ago, while making arrangements to sail for this country to visit his osns here. Mr. Moffat sent a message from New York to relations here saying that practically no attention had been paid by Lusitania passengers and crew to the German Embassy's warnings, and that he would take any risk to see his father's body, which had been embalmed and placed in a vault pending his arrival.

CHINA'S COMPLIANCE.

War Between Mongolian Nations is Averted.

Peking, May 8.—The attaches of the foreign office were at work all night translating Japan's ultimatum, which was presented to the foreign office yesterday afternoon, and drafting the trems of China's compliance with the demands, which will be submitted to Yuan Shi Kai and the State Council this morning at 10 o'clock. The reply will be delivered to M. Hioki, the Japanese Minister, this evening or Sunday morning.

Letter From Rev. S. A. Wallis, D. D.

To the Editor of the Fairfax Herold—My dear Sir:—While during my residence of thirty-four years as a Christian minister in Fairfax county it has been my constant practice to refrain from any public reference to county, State or Federal offices, because I firmly believe it is neither wise nor proper for clergymen to express any choice between man and man, or enter into the discussion of political issues in the newspapers, still I feel it is incumbent upon any man, be he clergyman or layman, to defend a friend from any rumors or reports that may reflect upon his character, and thereby injure his reputation.

It has come to my knowledge in a general way, that such rumors are being circulated with reference to my friend, Mr. George K. Pickett, a candidate for the office of county treasurer (subject to the decision of the Democratic primary) in succession to my old and valued friend, Mr. Robert Wiley, who, I regret to say, considers himself obliged to resign that office, on account of increasing years. I have known Mr. Pickett for some years past, and during that time he has stood high in the estimate of his friends, as a man of high character, sober in his habits, and opposed to the use of strong drink. He is a consistent member of the Baptist services. He is also interested in the work of the Episcopal mission at Groveton, Fairfax county, near his home, where he also regularly attends the night services, and is esteemed by the students ministering there. He is worthy of the support of his friends on the ground of character, and should he be elected, he will meet their expectations of him.

"All Aboard" for U.S. Marine

Nothing like a good satisfying chew or a rich, fragrant smoke to keep your nerves steady and your head clear. Street car men are about the busiest lot of fellows on earth. Starting—stopping—watching traffic—taking care of passengers—something's going on every minute.

It would be a tough job for them if they didn't have their U. S. MARINE to smooth out the kinks; but it's "All Aboard for Contentment Avenue Line" when they use this rich, mellow, satisfying tobacco.

U.S. MARINE Cut Plug Tobacco is made from pure Kentucky tobacco, aged from three to five years so as to bring out its full ripe flavor and rich fragrance.

Most sturdy, live men won't use any other brand, once they've tried U. S. MARINE—because no other brand has the snap, the taste and the honest sweetness of U. S. MARINE. It gives you big, juicy satisfaction such as you get out of a good square meal.

U. S. MARINE, selected Kentucky tobacco, slowly aged, is the longest lasting good tobacco ever sold for 5c. Slow-burning—and a long-time, satisfying chew.

Lame Back

Lame back is usually due to rheumatism of the muscles of the back. Hard working people are most likely to suffer from it. Relief may be had by massaging the back with Chamberlain's Liniment two or three times daily. Try it. Obtainable everywhere.

TO THE LADIES

As I have numerous callers to do Ladies' work, I will take that up later on, as I can serve at present all Gents' and the Ladies later on. Later on I will endeavor to accommodate both with perfect satisfaction. I can fit Ladies and Gents, regardless of shape, large or small. It is all easy to me. All I can tell you is to let me build the garment for you and you will have the final say.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

Only Two Debates Left in Which to Decide the Two Who Will Contest in Final.

The contest for the debating medal was still further narrowed down at the meeting of the A. H. S. Literary Society last Saturday night at eight o'clock in the school building. The two debates on the program were, first, "Resolved, that buying a fare entitles the buyer to a seat,' and, second, "Resolved, that the Monroe doctrine should be abolished." Miss Dolly Callahan, who upheld the affirmative side of the first subject, was given a favorable decision and Miss Anna Haslett, negative on the second debate was pronounced victorious over the affirmative. The judges were Mr. A. J. Pohl, Mr. Cole, and Miss Flora Glasgow.

On May 15 Miss Callahan will sustain the affirmative and Miss Haslett the negative on, "Resolved, that labor unions, as organized and managed in the United States, are a benefit to the public." William Morton and Gus Pohl will appear against each other on the subject, "Resolved, that American boys should be given military training." The winners of these two debates will argue the affirmative and negative side, respectively, in the final debate May 1st, the subject of which has already been announced.

High School pupils are already beginning to turn their thoughts toward final examinations, which are scheduled for only a few weeks from now. The same rule for exemption will hold good, all pupils outside of the fourth year making an average of ninety per cent or over in any subject being exempt from taking the exam on that subject. All are trying ahrd to be exempt in a few at least. Next Monday begins the third week of the third and last six weeks' period of the second term.

The High School chorus is getting into shape quickly and is working together already in a manner that promises much for the musical end of the commencement program. Three rehearsals have been held at the Young People's Building, where the fourth will be held next Monday night at seven and one or two have been held at the school, where a piano recently rented is now installed. A hundred or more voices, both male and female, compose the chorus.

The Alexandria High School first team suffered defeat at the hands of Friends' School Thursday afternoon in the return game with the latter at the Ball Park by the score of 20 to 17. The game was, as the score indicates, a swatfest, the local boys just being nosed out.

WISHED SHE COULD DIE

And Be Free From Her Troubles, but Finds Better Way.

Columbia, Tenn.—"Many a time," says Mrs. Jessie Sharp, of this place, "I wished I would die and be relieved of my suffering, from womanly troubles. I could not get up, without pulling at something to help me, and stayed in bed most of the time. I could not do my housework.
The least amount of work tired me out. My head would swim, and I would tremble for an hour or more. Finally I took Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I am not bothered with pains any more, and I don't have to go to bed. In fact, I am sound and well of all my troubles."
Cardui goes to all the weak spots and helps to make them strong. It acts with nature—not against her. It is for the tired, nervous, irritable women, who feel as if everything were wrong, and need something to quiet their nerves and strengthen the worn-out system.
If you are a woman, suffering from any of the numerous symptoms of womanly trouble, take Cardui. It will help you. At all druggists.
